

Wet Chemical Processing

- Salare chemical wet bench hoods are located in the Class-1000 area and designed to vent out harmful chemical vapors.
- It is equipped with nitrogen gas for blow drying, DI water spray and goose neck for rinsing and a cascading quench tank.
- One hood is used for acid only, including HF etching, the other hood is for bases.

