

Preparatory Interview Questions

1. How, if at all, have you been personally or professionally affected by the ways that economic difference has been discussed, or treated in your work or circle of family and friends?
2. Have you ever had a conversation across the lines of economic difference that has been especially constructive? If so, what made that possible?
3. Have you ever felt stereotyped by others who come from a different background or who are presently in a different economic bracket than you?
4. What could happen in this mini-dialogue that would leave you feeling that it had been a worthwhile experience? What could happen that would leave you regretting that you participated?